

MRB Group's architectural team provided design for renovation and retrofit of two former commercial offices into one professional office suite with an atmosphere suitable for an upscale health and wellness focus.

Transformation of the structure began with the conceptual design for a complete renovation and repurposing of 6000 square feet of available space into an outpatient therapy facility.

Special attention was paid to enhanced details, providing an overall aesthetic which supports the use of the space.

In addition to design, MRB Group provided project oversight including construction administration, ensuring that client needs were not only met, but exceeded - and that the project was completed within budget and on-schedule.

The finished interior suites include:

- A calm, relaxed environment for adults and seniors to rehabilitate in a comfort setting
- Incorporation of quality finishes, furnishings, lighting, and architectural details
- A lobby/reception area, open therapy area, private therapy rooms, consultation space, conference room, and offices
- Accommodations for Physical, Occupational, Speech, and Massage Therapy
